

2009 Lecture Series

US Foreign Policy in Latin America:

Promoting or Subverting Democracy?

“You are the United States, future invader of our naive America” (Rubén Darío, 1904): US Foreign Policy in Latin America

Dr. David Sowell

Professor of History and International Studies
Juniata College

Neff Lecture Hall
Monday, 10/26 7 pm

Trickle-Up Democracy: Grassroots and Governmental Responses to the June 28th Military Coup in Honduras

Mr. Grahame Russell

Co-Director of Rights Action

Neff Lecture Hall
Monday 11/2 7 pm

Reception following the talk in the Pheasant Lounge in vLCS (upstairs). Sponsored by PAX-O and the Spanish club.

The Other Tools in the Toolbox: Protecting US Hegemony in Latin America through “Democracy Building”

Mr. Chuck Kaufman

Co-Director of
the Nicaragua Network

Neff Lecture Hall
Monday 11/9 5:00 pm

Creating Enemies: The US Role in Two Violent Coups d’Etat in Latin America

Dr. Richard Mahoney

Director of the Baker Institute
Juniata College

Screening and discussion of this documentary directed by Dick Mahoney

Good Hall 402
Monday, 11/16 7 pm

The Asturias Academy: Promoting Democracy and Development through Education in Guatemala

Mr. Jorge Chojolán

Director of the Asturias Academy

Neff Lecture Hall
Monday, 11/23 7 pm

Reception following the talk in the Pheasant Lounge in vLCS (upstairs). Sponsored by the Spanish Club and PAX-O.

Sponsored by:
The Department of Politics,
The Department of World Languages and Cultures,
The Department of History,
The International Studies Program,
and the Baker Institute for Peace and Conflict Studies