Liturgical Reflections
The Mass consists in some sense of two parts, namely the Liturgy of the Word and the Liturgy of the Eucharist, these being so closely interconnected that they form but one single act of worship. For in the Mass is spread the table both of God’s Word and of the Body of Christ, and from it the faithful are to be instructed and refreshed. The Liturgy of the Word and the Liturgy of the Eucharist flow together so well that both form the one prayer of praise and thanks in the Church, the holy Mass.

January 25  Mk 1:14-20
In today’s gospel, Jesus didn’t hesitate when he invited people to follow him. He walked right up to them and clearly asked them to join him. If we want our children to follow us, we must be direct in our talk and clear in our example.

A New Year Wish by W. R. Hunt
The sun is just rising on the morning of another day, the first day of a new year. What can I wish that this day, this year, may bring to me?
Nothing that shall make the world or others poorer, nothing at the expense of other men; but just those few things which in their coming do not stop with me, but touch me rather, as they pass and gather strength.
* A few friends who understand me, and yet remain my friends.
* A work to do which has real value without which the world would feel the poorer.
* A return for such work small enough not to tax unduly anyone who pays.
* A mind unafraid to travel, even though the trail be not blazed.
* An understanding heart.
* A sight of the eternal hills and unresting sea and of something beautiful the hand of man has made.
* A sense of humor and the power to laugh.
* A little leisure with nothing to do.
* A few moments of quiet, silent meditation. The sense of the presence of God.
* And the patience to wait for the coming of those things, and the wisdom to know them when they come.

Epiphanies are Made for Sharing
By Fr. Thomas Rosica, CSB

The word “epiphany” means “to show forth.” Epiphanies, both large and small, tend to be private events—yet events with great significance for the public. Trying to share the details with another of an epiphany is fraught with complications. The words are never quite right, and even the most sympathetic listener cannot fully bridge the gap between description and what it was like being there. Most of us keep our personal experiences of the Holy to ourselves. Who would believe it? And who would really understand? The irony is that epiphanies are made for sharing, even as they are impossible to communicate fully.

Unlike the poor shepherds, the Magi had to travel a long road; they had to face adversity to reach their goal. It was anything but a romantic, sentimental pilgrimage that we often see in our manger scenes!

The experience of the magi reminds us that all who make the tedious journey to the truth will finally encounter it and be changed in the process. They can never go back to a “business as usual” way of life. When we meet Christ and see who he really is, we will never be the same—and only then can we hope to begin to share in His mission.
