GRADUATE PROGRAMS

Undergraduate students pursuing a baccalaureate degree at Juniata College may register for graduate courses at the 500-level or above, if the student meets the following eligibility criteria:

- The student has senior class standing, except for the Master of Public Health (MPH) courses, which require junior standing; and
- The student has a minimum cumulative GPA of 3.0.
- Up to nine graduate credits can be taken as an undergraduate student except for the MPH program, which allows up to 12 graduate credits to be taken as an undergraduate.
- Students may not double-count credits toward an undergraduate and graduate degree. Therefore, only graduate credits that exceed the 120 credits required for a bachelor's degree can be counted toward an advanced degree.
- Students must complete the course with a B- or better for the credits to be eligible for transfer to a Juniata College graduate degree program. (Non-Juniata programs may have their own criteria for accepting transfer credits). Internal transfer of credit is subject to specific graduate program transfer credit regulations.
- Graduate courses are not eligible for the pass/no pass grading option.

Exceptions to the provisions of this policy may be requested by petitioning the Graduate Studies Committee.
